Wild Turkeys and Land Management

Soil and Water Conservation Districts from Piscataquis and Somerset Counties will host a workshop on Tuesday March 4th focusing on wild turkey habits and habitat. The 3-hour workshop will begin at 9:00 AM at the Skowhegan Community Center on 39 Poulin Drive, Skowhegan, ME.

Featured speakers at the event will be National Wild Turkey Federation Regional Biologist Doug Little, USDA Wildlife Services State Director John Forbes, and Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Biologist Bob Cordes.

Attendees will gain understanding about wild turkey biology, history and management. Topics covered will include how to manage wild turkeys in agricultural areas, and how to enhance properties for improved habitat.

Registration deadline is February 29th and the fee is $5.00 per person. Space is limited. To pre-register, contact Carol at the Somerset County Soil and Water Conservation District at 474-8324 or Joanna at the Piscataquis County Soil and Water Conservation District at 564-2321.
